HOUSES COLLAPSE IN CAN'TON.

News from Canton states that there has been a serious accident in Tak. Hing street in the western suburbs. "It appears that one of the shops, was in such an unsatisfactory condition, that it was not able to bear the strain of the weight upon its walls. Some materials stored in the loft happening to be heavier than usual, the whole gave way. Naturally this interfered with the adjacent shops, and so altogether when the rubbish was cleared away it was found that twelve persons were more or on the Hosokong Football Chen Ground less injured by the accident. The report does not say if any lost their lives or not. The accident occurred in the middle of the night. The Canton people however, at present have a fairly well organized Red Cross Society, and apparently they are not backward in calling in its assistance, which is over denied when asked. In this case of the suffering were cared for.

WIDOWS AND MARRIAGE

Fall in the Rate of Those Who

"The Registrar-General's annual report of births, deaths and marriages for 1909 contains some interesting détails as to the remarriage of widows and widowers. The fall in the marriage rate has been greater among widowers and widows than among the unmarried of either sex, but the apparent tendency among the widowed not to remarry is probably overstated. The number of widows is always much greater than that of widowers, because, in the first place, men marry later in life than momen; second, because the durations of male life is shorter than that of female life; and, third, because the proportion of widows who remarry is much lower than the proportion of widowers who remarry. The number of divorced persons who remarried in 1876-80 was equal to about 19 per cent. of the number divorced during that period, whereas in 1909 the proportion had risen to about 50 per cenf. In the year 1909 the proportion of those who at The time of marriage were unable to sign their names in the register, was 1.1 per cent. in the case of bridegrooms and 1.3 in the case of brides. Taking the country in the aggregate, the proportion of illiterate women has always been somewhat higher than the proportion of illiterate men. The case of London is exceptional. In the year 1909 the proportion of bridegrooms who could not sign their names in the nurringe register was 1.0 per cent. and of brides 1.4 per cent. This proportion of illiteracy is not, however, common to all parts of London; it is practically confined to the group of enstern registration districts, where a large proportion of signatures by mark occur in the marriages of foreign Jews. If these districts be excluded, the proportion of illiteracy in London will be reduced to 0.4 out of every 100 men and 0.6 out of every 100 women who married. In 1909 the birth of males in England and Wales numbered 466,463 and the births of females 448,000; the male hirths were, therefore, to the female births in the proportion of 1041 to 1000. The proportion of boys to girlant hirth is lower in England and Wales than hamy harmpean country. The darths registered during the year included 37,509 illogitimate children A table exhibiting the rates of illegitimate fortility in the sevent countles at different periods shows that, speaking generally, the raties in certain counties remain correlatently ligh throughout, as in the four northern

INCREASING CRIME.

M. Raphael Simons, Public Prosecutor in Brunsels, has startled the country somewhat with proposals for amending the administration of the criminal law. M. Simons, after showing that crime is almost crerywhere on the increase, denounces as the cause of its progress the modern and ultra-sentimental idea of the mental irresponsibility of many criminals, who are acquitted, pardoned, or sentenced to insignificant penalties, on the protext that they are not of sound mind or other like causes. He expresses the view that the whole foundation of penal laws should be tioner, May 20th, 1905, the following case reversed, and be based henceforth, not on is quoted:— H. C., aged 34 years. I saw the individual interests of the criminals, him on March 10th; he was suffering from

Drastic Proposals from Bolgium

Further, Mr Simona would have judges decide simply whether prisoners are or are not guilty-of-the-offences charged against thom, and, in case of guilt, sentence them to imprisonment whether they are sane or not. Medical men would then be invited make a close examination of th prisoner's mental condition. It would depend on the result of such an examina in gaol or in a lumatic asylum. At the same time, M. Simous, and the "school of practical men" for whom he speaks, would reintroduce the penalty of "capital exclusion" from society-Le., capital punishment-for all cases of murder. As he foresces that it might be difficult to induce scusitive jurymen to roturn a verdict of guilty in all such cases, he would abolish trial by jury, except for purely civil actions, and he would likewise do away with the King's right of pardon. In addition, he would increase the citizen's right of self-defence to the extent of allowing a would-be murderer to be killed at sight by his intended victim. It is, if course, expected that this new theory of criminal law will be attacked and violently apposed by the older school of jurists. It is ample testimony, however, to the growing anxiety which is being awakened by the increase of crime and the present humanitarian tendency towards excessive leniency. That these new ideas should spring up in Belgium, where capital punishment has been abolished for more than half a century and where the penal laws have as a whole been greatly modified in favour of leniency BAR, BILLIARDS AND BOWLING during the last twenty-five years, is also very significant. M. Simons, it should be added in conclusion, confidently looks forward to the gradual adoption of his views, "despite the opposition of sentimen-

OLD AGE PENSIONS IN GERMANY.

Inimical to Thrift.

We read in the Standard that Privi Councillor Friedensburg, who formerly held a high post in the Imperial State Insurance Department, condemns in sweeping terms the entire system of old age, accident, and sick pensions which exists in Germany His article will appear in the Zeitschrift fu

Horr Friedensburg declares that there is no longer any trace of the enthusiasn with which this class of legislation wa greeted on its inauguration some thirt years ago. This is due partly to th colossal financial burdens which have been heaped on the nation by the readiness wit which expenditure was incurred at th beginning, and partly owing to th complete breakdown of the pension CITANDING in its, own grounds with system as a means of alleviating the hard ships of the deserving poor. State ponsion Germany, instead of educating the masse in thrift by inducing them to take par in some provision for their old age invalidity, have exercised by maladmini tration, the writer declares, a wholesa pauperising influence on the nation. Man receive pensions without deserving them many more receive compensation for accid ents which are entirely unconnected wit their factories or workshops; many desirit state pensions simulate invalidity in ord to obtain them with the result that, th national exchanger is burdened wit enormous but unjustified charges, He Friedenaburg's elaborate treatise is, of portunce to sociologists, in all countries.

The City-Hati-is a monument to the liberality of the great trading firms of the Colony past and present, and in its time has done excellent service. But who is there living in the Colony to-day but will acknowledge that it no longer serves the needs of the community. The theatre is draughty, miserably furnished and inadequately provided with even the commonest necessities, while acoustic properties are shocking. The upper halls used for dancing and concerts no "longer suffice for the eyer-increasing demands of a growing community. Besides, the condition of the fabric after all these years in such a climate as that of Hongkong must be a cause of considerable uneasiness to those who wish to use the place for the purpose of a big assembly. The Government is not in a position to-day to build a theatre, neither do weathink there is much prospect of public company being started for such a purpose. The returns of capital expended on such a project in the Far East are all too problematical that a portion of the proceeds be given to to attract investment. Altogether the London hospital funds. The trustees might either be bought out, or if for sentimental reasons the big firms interested decline that be induced to allow the public to cooperate with them in a suitable scheme. We see no reason why such a project could not be realised, for the site of the City Hall was originally practically a free gift from the Crown. The trustees do their best for the benefit of the community undertheexisting circumstances, but at present we believe the place hardly pays the cost of upkdep and therefore 3,30 p.m.-H.K. #### THE HONGKONG BUTCHER? CASE.

Address by Counsel for the Defence.

Before the Chief Justice Sir Francis Piggott, at the Supreme Court this morning the case was continued in which John Tatam, runner of the King Edward Holel, sued Frederick Howell, chief bailing of the Supreme Court, for an account of the receipts and disbursements of the Hongkong Butchery and for such further and other relief as may be just. Mr M. W. Sinde, K.C., was for plaintiff," instructed by Mr J. H. Gardiner, and Mr Eldon Potter defended, instructed by Mr C. E. H. Beavis.

His Lordship said he did not think the Statute of Limitations applied to that case and the plaintiff was not stopped. The point was a somewhat complicated one and in the event of judgment going against defendant an appeal could be taken on that Mr Gutteres was again recalled and a point roe in connection with the accounts for February, 1896. Mr Potter said that he could not let it rest that his client was guilty of fraud. Mr Slade-I suggest that the cross-examination of Mr Gutteres be postponed until after we have an opportunity of going into the accounts." His Lordship (to Mr Potter) -- I must hole that the cross-examination is finished and must ask you to open your case. .-

wish to recall Mr Tatam.

Mr Potter-Very well, my lord, but r Mr Potter, in opening the case for the defence, said that it was significant that that case should have been brought after a lease of fourtoen years, or come into court, he should say, after fourteen years. Apart his own. He did not give any reason why altogether from the question of legal bar by reason of any statute the court was, as a rule, suspicious of a case of that kind which was brought after a long lapse time and more especially was the cour suspicious of such a case when that case, was, as ho said, founded on serious allegations of fraud because, although they had been told by his learned friend, Mr Slade, that case was not founded on fraud he did not think that position was maintainable when one read the plaintiff's plendings. The case was Irand from beginning to end and it was a case of fraud which he submitted had failed utterly He submitted that not one jot of the charge of fraud perferred by plaintiff had been supported by cogent evidence. Even A Washington telegram to the Cable- that morning it had been proved, he thought conclusively, that any representations made by Mr. Howell with regard to the bad position of the business, so far from being frauduent and untrue was absolutely true. did not think his Lordship could have any doubt at all now that at the end of the first four months trading of the Hongkong Butchery there was a heavy loss and that without taking into account one cent of the money which had been advanced A serious disturbance has occurred at by Mr Howell. That was proved by the Lisbon us the result of an attempt to bring books but if there were no books prosubmitted that his lordship would be a general strike as a protest against the duced he thought the facts of the c se satisfied with defendant's story which were such as to show that the business entitled defendant to judgment. The trainwaymen refused to join, and the could not have been successful at the end. mob attacked the cars. They were charged of January, 1898, because at that time by the Republican Guards, and there were they had the plaintiff admitting that he many arrests, including the Union leaders. negotiatned and arranged with Ynen Choung Public sympathy is against the strikers. to take the business over and negotiating was really solvent, would have willingly handed it over to a compradore if he could have made infinitely more by keeping it himself. Plaintiff's case as presented was, he did not know whether it was still - that plaintiff had handed the takings to Mr Howell, that he had entrusted ollr Howell with the keeping of the accounts. June 20th, Tuesday,-Sandakan Turf He thought plaintiff's evidence was meant had nothing to do with the accounts and

> He did not know whother that was intended of not but that was the impression left on his mind. Now they had it clear that plaintiff did not mention one word with regard to the cash book, or the lodger or any other account bookwor even to the account book w! On he Kept himself from the 1st Pebruary, 1890, and it was dear that the books were kept at the Hongkong Butchery and kopt by an accountant paid by the Hongkong Butchery and immediately under the control of plaintiff himself, and if ho had wished he could have seen them every momen of the day. It might be that he was such an ignorant man that he could not understand them, but her (Mr Potter) must say plaintiff did not display such appalling ignorance when he was in the witness box. But even if that was so it did not justify him in assuming the position which, to say the least of it, was misleading, mamely, that he was debarred from seeing the accounts and that he did not know how the business was going on and that he relied solely on Howell's word and that that word was untrue and fraudulent would have made the business pay consider ing that he had to pay three per cent commission on the business when up the time he took it over it had running at a loss. Whether it was not paying him or whether for some other reasons it was now clear tha Yuong gave the business up early January 1897 and he thought it was proved boyong all possible doubt that the business was closed in January 1897, not because of the false and fraudulent representations made by Mr Howell but because Yueng Cheung would not carry it on any longer. As a matter of fact it was admitted by plaintiff and he was forced to admit it.

of the case if the business was closed amendment and if either party are on January 4, as plaintiff said it was, unwilling to sign the notes they are and if plaintiff owed Mr Howell the sum of $14,000 odd or any sum, then it scened to him absolutely irrelevant to that case whether Mr Howell was interested in the Houskone Butchery Co

He submitted that it was absolutely immaterial. Plaintiff's case on the pleadings was that his own business was never closed, that it was never sold, that there was not a real sale but that in some way or another it was carried on under the new name of the Hongkong Butchery Co. He sub mitted that that must fail now because of plaintiff's own admissions so that I failed to see what the Hongkong Butchery Co. had to do with that case and that on the closing of the Butchery Co. there was a debit balance against him. However he had chosen to say that Mi Howell was the Hongkong Butchery Co. and if it was really plaintiff's own basiness he asks for an account. Plaintiff did not say whether it was the whole account or portion of it he wanted; no. he said nothing, and if he recovered it must be on the case that it is his sole business and that he was entitled to the profits of the business up to that day. -- Plaintiff had told them killed. with a serious face at any rate be did not know whether he was serious in his innermost conscience,—that Messrs Howell and Watkins was going to carry on the business for him and on his behalf. He expected that Mr Howell that he could travel to America or to any after any lapse of time and again walk into would continue to finance the business and other part of the world and come back he expected Mr Howell or Mr Watkins t do that but that was the position he adopted. It was not a reasonable position for a plaintiff to adopt. He would initially his lordship that as a matter of fact M Howell had nothing to do with the Hongkong Butchery Co., and never had a share in it and that it was untrue as was alleged that the sale of the business was pretended one and that in fact defendant retained for himself the whole or a large share of the business. He did not wish to weary his lordship but, Mr Howell was a government servant and it was a serious matter when a mun came into court and alleged a gross case of fraud against him. His Lordship must have been struck with the light-hearted way in which the fraud was alleged. Plaintiff seemed to imagine that because he was prepared to say, "Oh, I think I have been defrauded," that it was proved. There was no proof before his lordship not only of fraudulent act or of any act which was not transparently honest. Every allegation of fraud broke down utterly when plaintiff was submitted to dross-examination. He would call -- Mr Howell and a number of other witnesses who would satisfy his Lordship that the claim was wholly unfounded - and - he

Defendant was then called-and the case was adjourned.

COMPANY MEETING.

Tecrangie Rubber Co., Ltd.

Sir Hornusjee Mody presided at the annual meeting of sharoholders of the above Company yesterday afternoon Those also present were: -- Messrs A Deaft son and H. Pinckney (directors), Mr M. Render Harris (secretary), Communder C. W. Beckwith, Dr. C. Forsyth, Messis H. Percy Smith, P. Loureiro, M. W. Slado, A. L. Stein, S. G. Newall, A. B. Rouse and A. S. Hewett.

· The notice convening the meeting having been read by the Secretary,

The Chairman moved the adoption by Mr Percy Smith and agreed to. of the directors' report and the accounts. 'He said the balance sheet was dated the 13th of February, and the report was drawn up on advices received from Sumatra 57- was made and the shares are now 12/0 paid up. Referring to the advances to Chinese and Indians and brokerst commission he said the advances to Chinese were advances to Chinese contractors and builders as well as to coolies. The advances they could give. to Indians were to Javanese and Klings, The brokers' commission was payment made to brokers for procuring continct labour, chiefly Javanese. As they all would take these goods back and settle the knew, the cost of securing indentured labour was heavy, and the commission paid in Sumatra for Javanese coolies was _75_to_100_guilders_per_coolie; The contracts are for three years and the A State inclinition the live and annihilation man and 103 guilders for the women por month. This was cheap compared to the wages paid on many rubber estates elsewhere. The commission would be written -off-year-by year- to the various crops-on which the coolies were employed. The consultation with their Sumatra frielids, but it might be that some shareholders present consider they were taking on excessive risk in planting up 200 fields of tobacco. By the end of June they would know what sort of a crop they had on the 100 fields now planted, and they could then decide whether to plant next year 100, 150 or up to 200 fields. The latest news from the estate was that rubber had been planted through 100 acres of tobacco land. At the end of February there were 853 coolies on the estate, of which 434 were Javanese under three years' contract. They had 8,048 acres of good hand in a central district for which they paid about £1 an acre, 10/- in cash and 10/- in shares. The Jaren of land suitable for rubber was larger than they anticipated and more than they could make use of with the capital at their disposal. He was very pleased to tell them that they had just received by the German Mail that day the following advice, dated Sumatra, 27th March :- Planting operations for the tobacco for crop 1911 "are finished. At present everything points to a good crop; the rains have come just eat the right time. Plucking of the leaves

Mr Slade, in seconding, said of their

8,000 old acres; practically all was, in the opinion of their local advisers, well suited to rubber, and about 500 appear suitable for tobacco. He believed that there was ,no uncleared, unprepared agricultural land in the world- which in its wild state commanded a higher price than Sumatra tobacco land when-and this was the mi- ment. portant point-it had been proved by actual cultivation of portions and by sale of the produce to be Leapable of bearing high-class tobacco. If at the Amsterdam sales next spring. Toerangie tobacco fetched prices anywhere near those obtained by their neighbours this year, the value of the Toerangie estate was no longer based merely on the estimates of experts, but as to their tobacco, and would have been proved by the touchstone of the market. The speaker held a substantial number of shares and had far more money at stake in the Company than he cared to see imperilled, and hearing the opinion freely expressed that tobacco planting was a most risky operation he sought for accurate information. He had satisfied himself that their funds were not being risked in unduly hazardous speculation. It cost all told not more than I guilder a 1b. to put tobacco on the market. A field equalled 1.4 acres, that way, 100 fields equalled 140 acres. An average crop from a field was about 10 piculs, say, 1,300 lbs. Therefore 1(0, fields would the money. produce 130,000 lbs. It would cost to put this amount on the market at the outside G.130,000-£10,830. Say they sold for an average price of G.1.40, their clear profit would be G.52,000-about £4,330, and there were possibilities, judging from the prices paid for tobacco from the neighbour ing estate, of larger returns than this. I was unlikely that the price of Sumatra tolacco would materially fall, because the area under tolacco had been decreased by the planting of rubber on tobacco lands and the area suitable for tobacco was strictly limited. Their total working capital with all calls paid was about £49,000. This amount was obviously insufficient to fully develop "the whole of their estate. They therefore wanted more money to pub into their property. This could be obtained in two ways or by a combination of the two. 1. By issuing more shares, 2. By applying may penfits made from tobacco growing to Moveloping rubber. They were essentially a rubber company, and he hoped the majority of them were willing to wait for a return on their investments until their rilliber begin to pay. If their tolucco poid, the original shareholders would be in a doubly strong position. Their estate would have been improved beyond the amount they had put into it, and they would be in a position to mise further capital, if they decided to do so, on very favourable terms. Then even if the price of rubber fell below the generally-accepted minimum of 1/8 a lb. they would still confidently expect very substintial dividends. No questions were asked, and the report and accounts were adopted.

by Mr Rouse, Mr A. Denison was reected to the Directorate.

The only other business was a proposal from the chair that a member of the staff of the Company's bankers, to be nominated by the manager, be and is hereby appointed Auditor for the ensuing year at a remuneration of 200 guilders. This was seepaded

Manila's Brilliant Victory.

The return match in the interport pole tournament between Hongkong and Manila was contested on Thursday evening at Causeway Bay and as on the former occasion there was a large attendance including Her Excellency Lady Lugard, Captain Simson, Private Secretary, and

Manila again proved themselves capable exponents of the art of pole and completely defeated Hougking by seven goals to three. From the first it was seen that neither side was taking any chances and the game started off at a rattling pace. The Manila men, although at times were riding equally as fast as the home team, rode more carefully while Hongkong seemed to display a recklossness which by no means assisted them in hitting the ball. The number of misses was remarkable and had Hongkong ridden a little more carefully their defeat would undoubtedly not have been so complete. At it was the Americans were able to pull up quicker-and were smarter at turning. Johnstone, for Hongkong, went back consequently very little of the brilliant polo exhibited by him on Tuesday was witnessed. A foul was given against Hongkong and A another try was attempted by the visitors but they made no headuly, Hongkong having got possession of the ball. The dirst chukka ended without any score being registered. In the subsequent encounter the Americans again led their opponents at a fast rate and for the greater part of the chukka Hougkong did not cross the half-way line out of their own territory. Brierley had some trouble with his stead which necessitated his obtaining another one. Hongkong bravely endeavoured to prevent Manila penetrating their defence but the pressure was too great and Macdonell
